

FlexMLS

The FBS Product Team invites you to join the "Flexmls User Experience Leaders" (FUEL) group. FUEL is a user research group that gives you the opportunity to share your Flexmls experiences with FBS Product Team members. The FUEL group is comprised of Flexmls members in a variety of roles (agents, brokers, assistants, appraisers, and MLS staff).

As a FUEL member, you will be invited to:

- Participate in user research such as surveys, usability studies, interviews, and focus groups. You can choose to participate at the time of the invitation. The Product Team will send you details about user research opportunities as they become available.
- Attend a monthly online meeting led by FBS Product Team members. Come when you can! During meetings, Product Team members introduce a topic(s) and ask for input from FUEL group members. (Some meetings may focus on specific roles, and those in other roles need not attend.) Meetings may include instant surveys and requests for input about specific questions.
