

2 Problems Users Are Having With zipForm®

There are currently two problems users are experiencing with zipForm®.

1. Forms are unfillable using Internet Explorer. The problem with not being able to complete forms is isolated to Internet Explorer. We recommend using another browser (Firefox or Chrome) until the issue has been resolved.
2. The Residential Purchase Contract appears to have been corrupted and should not be used. The form in zipForm® appears to have been corrupted and contains language from the current and previous versions. Until zipForm® can get their system's version corrected, we're posting notices on AARonline.com, home page & zipForm® page, warning users that the RPC as found in zipForm® should not be used along with a link to the page containing the secure, fillable PDF. The warnings will have a link that takes them to a secure, fillable PDF of the correct Residential Purchase Contract for users to access.
